

Louie Pastor

Chief Corporate Development Officer and
Chief Legal Officer

Louie Pastor was named chief corporate development officer and chief legal officer for Xerox effective February 1, 2021. He is also an executive vice president of Xerox Holdings Corporation. He joined Xerox in October 2018 as general counsel.

Louie leads all of Xerox's corporate development activities, with responsibility for mergers and acquisitions, investor relations and Xerox's $250 million corporate venture capital fund. In addition, Louie oversees Xerox's legal affairs, including all legal aspects of the company's various strategic, commercial and operational initiatives, and leads the company's environmental, health and safety, sustainability, government relations and public policy activities on domestic and international affairs.

Louie joined Xerox from Icahn Enterprises, where he was deputy general counsel, responsible for, among other things, numerous long-term strategic initiatives, including the acquisitions and dispositions of various operating companies, and investments in and engagements with various public and private companies. Louie began his career at Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett LLP in New York, where he advised public companies on mergers and acquisitions, securities offerings, corporate governance and other general corporate matters.

Louie serves on the Board of Directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the world's largest business-oriented lobbying group, and is a member of The Economic Club of New York. He previously served on the Board of Directors of Herc Holdings Inc., one of the leading equipment rental suppliers in North America, from 2016 to 2020.

Louie is also Executive Sponsor of the Black Women's Leadership Council, an employee resource group at Xerox dedicated to advancing the professional development of black women.

Louie received his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania Law School and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from The Ohio State University.
