The Black Women's Leadership Council (BWLC) is a 501(c)(3) organization whose mission is to advance the personal and professional development of black women. BWLC was started in 1986 by thirteen trailblazing black women in Xerox with the purpose of addressing the unique challenges that black women faced in the workplace while attempting to promote leadership and development opportunities at all ranks in the company.

Our objectives include:

- CULTIVATING and supporting business efforts to develop, attract and retain the best talent to meet the current and future needs of organization
- CREATING leadership development and career opportunities for all black women
- CONTRIBUTING to the achievement of business objectives
- COLLABORATING with Xerox Employee Resource Groups (ERGs) on targeted; programming

We also work to develop productive and successful community outreach partnerships that facilitate the achievement of business goals and social justice initiatives in the communities where we live and do business.

Under our community outreach umbrella, we formed the BWLC Foundation which provides undergraduate scholarships to young black women as they strive to contribute and thrive in a global community.

We look forward to your support as we continue to help our constituents Own their Own Destiny and Chart their Own Course.

Our flagship event is an annual conference/summit that provides participants with opportunities to enhance their skills, strengthen their networks, celebrate successes and continue to grow as leaders. This is facilitated through dynamic workshops, networking opportunities, executive engagement, a gala, and other activities. This event helps to nurture the vision and mission of BWLC and assist each attendee with methods to achieve their goals for both personal and professional development.

Included with this letter are detailed sponsorship opportunities. If you have questions, please contact Jacqueline Tyson or Guyla Wrens-Armstead at jacqueline.tyson@xerox.com or guyla.wrens-armstead@xerox.com. Thank you for your consideration of our sponsorship request.

Sincerely,

Guyla Wrens-Armstead
